

SPONSORS' SEMINAR

Occupational Health and Safety Law: An Enforcer's Perspective

The enforcement of occupational health and safety law can be difficult and contentious, whether for policy-makers, workers or employers. It presents its own particular challenges for those responsible for carrying out that enforcement.

This seminar will address issues including the organisation and administration of enforcement, the application of WorkSafe Victoria's Compliance and Enforcement Policy, and the process of investigation, including how inspectors use and are instructed to use their powers under applicable legislation.

We are delighted to announce that our guest speaker will be:

Mr Stan Krpan

Mr Krpan is the Director, Legal Services and Investigations at the Victorian WorkCover Authority. In this role he manages the process of investigation and prosecution under the Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004 (Vic), together with other health and safety legislation for which the VWA is responsible.
